FULL EXPLANATIONS

This "Richards Atlas" of Springfield is the most complete we have ever issued here, being the third edition. The first edition was issued in 1898, the second in 1910.

The official records in the Assessors' Department, Water Department and Department of Streets and Engineering, at the City Hall, were carefully consulted, as well as those of the County Registry of Deeds.

The figures in the streets are always the house numbers. The figures in the lots are the numbers as an record at the Registry of Deeds.

The owners' names are printed on the maps in the business and farmers districts only. All owners' names are printed by streets in the back of the Atlas. The figures before each name are the house numbers, and those after are the acres in square feet or acres (A for acres). This additional feature of the atlas makes the Atlas more complete than our former editions.

The owners' names are subject to constant change, and have always been a great source of trouble to all publishers; many publishers are leaving the names out entirely of their editions, but we have retained this feature as an index in the back of the Atlas, similar to our editions of Worcester, Providence, Portland, Me., and other large cities.

We wish to thank all city officials and their assistants, whom we have consulted, for aiding in giving us information. We wish also to thank all our subscribers whose support has made it possible for us to publish this useful work.

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf of a book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor discoloration and faint, illegible markings, possibly from the reverse side or due to age. The left edge of the page shows the binding of the book, with visible stitching and the edges of the adjacent pages. The overall tone is warm and historical.

1. The first part of the document is a list of names and their corresponding numbers. The names are written in a cursive script, and the numbers are written in a simple, bold font. The list is organized into two columns, with the names on the left and the numbers on the right.

This image shows a single page from the Voynich manuscript, a collection of handwritten text in an unknown script. The page is oriented vertically and contains a single column of text. The script is composed of various symbols, including straight lines, curves, and dots, which are not recognizable as any known language. The text is arranged in approximately 20 horizontal lines. The parchment is aged and slightly discolored.
